

Top 10 biggest real estate projects coming to NYC

Projects in Queens, Harlem and the Bronx led a strong month

March 07, 2016 08:30AM

By Ariel Stulberg

147 East 86th Street, Manhattan

Ceruzzi Properties, Stillman Development and Kuafu Properties are planning an 18-story, 210,000-square-foot condominium building with two floors of retail at the base on the Upper East Side.

The HOK-designed building will have 63 two- to five-bedroom units, with prices around $3,000 per square foot.

A rendering of 147 East 86th Street (credit: HOK Architects)